

Research on Iowa Birds by Jim Dinsmore

A major success story in managing Iowa's non-game wildlife involves the American Kestrel. In the 1970s, many people thought that this species was declining in numbers and that it might even disappear from the state. In the early 1980s, Ron Andrews of the Iowa Department of Natural Resources noticed that the habitat along interstate highways in Iowa seemed suitable for kestrels but the lack of suitable nesting sites probably was limiting their use of those areas. Working with a Clear Lake boy scout, Ron got permission to attach kestrel nest boxes to the backs of interstate signs. Kestrels almost immediately made use of these new nest sites, and soon kestrel nest boxes were appearing on the interstate highways throughout Iowa.

1-35 NORTI

EXIT IMILE

In 1987, Illinois native Dan Varland began a study of these kestrels along Interstate 35 in central Iowa as a doctoral project at Iowa State University. Dan had long been interested in raptors and had taught at Iowa Western Community College in Clarinda for a number of years. Dan's study has looked at the behavior and mortality of young kestrels shortly after they leave the nest. This post-fledging period is one of the least known phases of life for many birds. Since the birds nested in nest boxes, it was easy for Dan to band the birds and place colored markers or radio transmitters on some of them. These markers allowed him to follow individuals birds and broods to see where they went and what they did. Among other things, Dan found that often the young birds left the interstate right-of-way soon after they could fly and moved to nearby areas to feed. He also found some evidence that the young birds formed groups that hunted together. Surprisingly, only two of the 16 deaths he recorded among these young kestrels were a result of collisions with vehicles along the interstate. Most deaths were the result of predation by various mammals.

Dan found that working on these birds presented some challenging problems. The continual passage of highspeed cars on the highway meant that safety was a constant concern. Also, if the bird he was watching flew across the highway and out-of-sight, just to get to the other side of the road to find the bird again might require a drive of several miles to the nearest exit where he could cross over to the other side of the road.

Dan is now completing his dissertation and hopes to be done with work this summer of fall. He wants to get back into the college teaching area and is looking for a teaching position. Dan's work was supported by a number of including organizations the Iowa Ornithologists' Union, the Iowa Department of Transportation, the North American Bluebird Society (kestrels like bluebirds are cavity nesters), the Iowa Science Foundation, Big Bluestem Audubon Society, and the Iowa Nongame Wildlife Fund.

1990 Spring Meeting by Hilda Sickels

The IOU Spring Meeting was held May 17-19, 1990 in Cedar Falls, Iowa at the Riverview Church camp and was sponsored by the Prairie Rapids Audubon Society. The weekend started on Friday evening with the social gathering in the camp dormitory lounge area. Catching up and general socializing took place. A lovely cake with the IOU symbol was an attractive centerpiece. People signed up for the trips with no guarantees given. Why no guarantees? The rain-swollen rivers overflowing their banks was the answer. Saturday morning saw us up at 5:30 A.M. with rolls, juice and coffee for breakfast. Rubber boots on and prepared for rain, we ventured on our trips which were to Sweet Marsh (Bremer Co.), Dudgeon Park (Benton Co.), George Wyeth State Park, Blackhawk County Park, Hartman Nature Center and Waterloo Greenbelt locations.

Saturday was a very cool, windy and grey day so birding was more complicated. Though the weather was not very cooperative, a number of warblers were seen as well as other birds. By noon everyone was back at the camp for a buffet lunch which was catered by the HyVee Deli. From 12:30 until 2:15 there were three continuous workshops:

(1) Jim Dinsmore spoke on shorebirds, their migratory, breeding and nesting habits

(2) Nixon Wilson spoke on Lyme Disease, its incidence in Iowa, his interest and research about the subject. He had a number of specimens

(3) Francis Moore shared with the group information on local birding areas. Excellent maps were a part of the registration packet prepared for the weekend.

After a very short break, a paper on accipiter research was presented by Dave Conrads. He discussed the McBride Raptor Center in Iowa City and how it is contributing to the body of knowledge about accipiters.

The business meeting was held from 3:30 to 4:30 with the majority of the members attending. A lot of information was shared about the various activities of the group. IOU now has a traveling display that depicts IOU activities and its achievements. IOU pins are available for sale and will be at the next IOU meeting. The fall meeting will take place in Indianola with more details at the back of this issue. The banquet was also catered by the HyVee Deli. The food (pork chops, chicken, mash potatoes, salad, rice and cheese cake) was plentiful and delicious. The banquet speaker was Dr. Jill Trainer, Associate Professor of Biology, University of Northern Iowa. She discussed bird behavior as it related to "Sexual Selection of Bird Song." She discussed her research on the Long-tailed Maniken of Costa Rica. She completed her research at the Monte Vede Reserve. It was a very interesting and informative talk.

Sunday morning, bright and early, saw everyone have muffins, rolls, juice or tea in preparation for our birding day. The trips went to the same locations as on Saturday with one change. The weather cooperated!

Everyone returned by noon to a sandwich lunch that was just right! Compilation took place and we had a total of 155 species for the weekend. Following are some of the sightings: every member of the swallow family was seen; 27 species of warblers of which were seen the Blackburnian, Magnolia, Cape May, Golden-winged, American Redstart, Ovenbird and Wilsons to name a few. Two Common nighthawks were seen roosting on a tree limb; Cedar Waxwings, Sora, Coopers Hawk, Redshouldered to mention some. A bright sighting was that of a beautiful Scarlet Tanager.

It was time to go. Good-byes were said. Thanks were given for a good weekend of fun, birding, good food and good company. Many thanks to Francis Moore, Bob Cecil, the Prairie Rapids Audubon Society and the HyVee Company for a successful weekend. Good-bye until September 13 where we will meet at Camp Wesley Woods. ## State and County Lists 12/31/91 by Pete Petersen

This year we had an increase of state totals from 16 to 20, but this is still less than half of what is reported to the American Birding Association. On a county basis, we have at least one total for 38 counties, one more than in the 1990 report for 1989.

You are encouraged to work out your home count total and submit it as of December 31, 1991, to the author at 235 McClellan Blvd., Davenport, IA 52803 by March 31, 1992. A list of species is not needed, just the total number through the end of 1991. Report only wild birds using your best judgement, heard as well as seen.

Bird Walks at Effigy Mounds by Dennis Carter

The National Park Service has scheduled Saturday morning bird walks at Effigy Mounds National Monument in Allamakee County again this year. Walks will be held on the following dates: July 22; August 3,17,31; September 14,28. Walks are led by NPS volunteer Dennis Carter. They start in front of the Visitor Center at 7 a.m. and last about two hours. Species found on walks last year included Bald Eagle, Yellow-bellied Sapsucker, Acadian Flycatcher, and Cerulean, Kentucky, and Prothonatary Warblers. More information can be obtained by calling Dennis Carter at 319/382-3754.

To the editor:

I would like to congratulate the Iowa Ornithologists' Union and in particular to praise Jim Fuller for running one of the best birdlines in the country. As a frequent caller of birdlines throughout the

c o n t i nent, I can attest to the high quality of the Iowa Birdline. Jim's attention to detail, constant updates and ability to communicate make our birdline consistently worthwhile. I hope everyone who uses the Iowa Birdline and who appreciates the personal touch and dedication of Jim Fuller will go out of their way to express their thanks at the next opportunity.

Jim Sinclair, Indianola

IOU People

Karole and Jim Fuller received the Conservation Award presented by the Johnson County Land Trust. Rick Hollis and Carol Thompson were presented Governor's Volunteer awards; Rick for his work on the Feeder Survey and Carol for the Breeding Bird Atlas.

Long-time IOU member Edwin Kline of Ames died on 26 May 1991. Ed joined the union in 1965 and frequently attended its annual meetings with his wife, Marjory. Until his retirement a few years ago, he was a Professor of Animal Science at Iowa State University where his speciality was in the area of meat science. S Cornell Laboratory of Ornithology

THE IOWA ORNITHOLOGISTS' UNION FALL MEETING CAMP WESLEY WOODS INDIANOLA, IOWA SEPTEMBER 13 - 15, 1991

Come see for yourself the excitement generated by fall in south central Iowa. New surprises appear annually and you may be one of the lucky people to set precendents for future generations. Events for the fall meeting will all be held at Camp Wesley Woods south of Indianola in a beautiful setting of oak/hickory timber. Birding should be excellent close to "home" or field trips to Red Rock Reservoir may produce a variety of water-related species. Accomodations are available on the grounds or in nearby Indianola.

All events take place and meals will be served at Methaqua Lodge near the parking lot at Wesley Woods. Field trips will leave from the parking lot and cover Red Rock Reservoir and related areas, Lake Ahquabi State Park, and Warren County Conservation Board parks.

Directions to Camp Wesley Woods - From the intersection of Highways 92 and 65/69 in Indianola, go west approximately 2.5 miles and watch for the sign to Camp Wesley Woods. Turn south onto paved County Road R63 and go about 4.5 miles. At the end of the pavement you will see a sign directing you to the left (east) on Nixon Street. Follow to the end of the road where you will end up in the Wesley Woods Parking lot. If you are coming from the west, follow Highway 92 to County Road R63, about 10 miles from Interstate 35.

ROLLING HILLS AUDUBON SOCIETY invites you to Indianola for the Fall 1991 Meeting of the IOWA ORNITHOLOGISTS' UNION

IOU Summer Field Trip June 22, 1991

Seventeen birders journeyed to Lee County in Southeast Iowa to the IOU Summer Field Trip at the Croton Unit of Shimek State Forest. Ignoring threats of poison ivy, ticks, and chiggers, they searched amid some early rain for the area's avian specialties. While the birds were more easily heard than seen, the group found Hooded, Worm-eating, Cerulean, and Blue-winged Warblers, plus Yellow-breasted Chat, Louisiana Waterthrush, and White-eyed Vireo. The Bewick's Wren proved elusive, unseen and singing only twice. A number of the more common species was also found, including Carolina Wren, Scarlet Tanager, and Rufous-sided Towhee.

Bob and John Cecil served as field trip leaders.
